

Learning Rocks! (Stone Age)

Year 3, Term 2

We are going to learn about the early humans in the Stone Age, how they lived and how civilisation progressed to the Iron Age.

Early humans are often referred to as Hunter-Gatherers. This is all about how they obtained their food.

There is evidence that early humans created tools from different stones. This is why we call it the Stone Age.

Key Vocabulary

hunter	gatherer	farming
tools	weapons	hammerstone
shield	settlement	hill fort
torc	tunic	tribes

Assessment Questions

What did Stone Age people eat? How did they get their food?

How were homes different in the Stone Age?

Give three differences between life today and in the Iron Age.

The Celts were a number of different tribes—they weren't just one group of people.

